

Directions to Jordans, HP9 2ST

MOTORWAY ROUTE

Leave the M40 at junction 2 with the A355, going northwards, and probably signposted Beaconsfield. This is RIGHT from London and M25, LEFT from Birmingham and Oxford.

In a short distance, turn RIGHT at the next roundabout, on to the A40 London Road.

Take first turn LEFT on to minor road called Potkiln Lane (narrowish and not well made up in places), over railway bridge, down the hill. Ignore left turn along Long Bottom Lane where the lane becomes Jordans Lane, ignore right turn along Welders Lane, go up the hill, admire the Quaker Meeting House on right, and turn LEFT at next junction (Seer Green Lane) into Jordans Village.

The Village Hall is on the far side of the Village Green behind the village shop. There is a small car park to the rear of the shop, next to the Hall, but if this is already full, park somewhere along the road round the Green, but beware cottage entrances and the shop can get busy in the mornings especially.

NON-MOTORWAY ROUTE

From London, continue on A40 to Denham Roundabout with M40, junction 1, and onwards up the dual-carriageway A40 north-westwards for a couple of miles to junction with A413 Amersham Road. Fork LEFT and remain on A40, which becomes single-carriageway after the Ugly Duckling pub at Tatling End. Onwards, past the fire station and over the M25 for about 6 more miles, passing Gerrards Cross Common (intersecting with the B416, Packhorse Road). Ignore turns to right at Bull Lane and then at Mumfords Lane. Your olfactory senses will announce your approach to the Wapsey's Wood landfill site on your left. Potkiln Lane is the next turning on your right, follow directions from above.
